

Selected Text Messages To Date Revealing Ms. Walsh's Motivations In Drugging Mr. Russell

Ms. Walsh's motives for drugging Mr. Russell have become abundantly clear – Ms. Walsh wanted to exercise complete control over Mr. Russell's life and place him in such a disoriented state that he would not be able to leave her or assume sole custody of their child. Specifically, Ms. Walsh, who readily acknowledges her own mental instability, feared that she would not be able to retain custody of the child she was having with Mr. Russell should a dispute arise. Instead of seeking treatment or attempting to find a way to work with Mr. Russell, Ms. Walsh embarked on a sinister course of action – drugging and gas lighting Mr. Russell to make it appear that he was equally as mentally unstable as she was. This is evidenced by the ongoing custody dispute over their child, in which Ms. Walsh has filed numerous court documents attempting to portray Mr. Russell as suffering from severe mental health issues.

A. Tara Walsh's Text Messages And Other Admissions Disclose She Pretended To Want To Be With Him For Financial Gain

Medical testing and psychological evaluation reveal that Tara Walsh's brazen conduct of secretly drugging Mr. Russell and then denying it when accused has demonstrably harmed Mr. Russell. It took Mr. Russell nearly a year to figure out that Ms. Walsh had been surreptitiously drugging him – while he struggled to deal with the unexplained side effects of the drugs. Adding to this emotional turmoil was the repeated inability of medical professionals to determine the cause of his symptoms, despite their best efforts.
